Gives Interesting Data On Pioneer Firms

E. L. Loynd has a letter written by W. C. Jones, physician and surgeon on January 7, 1869, the date the Truckee Republican was established, to Jay Gould of Dutch Flat which proved interesting not only because of the cover which had a paid mark of the Pacific Union Express Company, but on the back of the stationery are many Truckee advertisements.

The novel idea was printed on one sheet, eight by five, and the 18 eye-catching notices of leading merchants, were placed in two columns.

Jones, who was the father of Superior Judge George L. Jones of Nevada City, had his office in his drug store at 12 Front street. Numbers have since been deleted from the buildings.

People who recall early days of Truckee will remember that Weller and Morris dealt in clothing, blankets, tobaccos, Yankee notions, etc, in a fire proof building. White and Stillson were ox yoke manufacturers at Main and Mill while Church and Hawley were wholesale and retail feed dealers and doubled as agents for Wells, Fargo and Co.

Hawley and Harris did the same in the clothing business and R. Bell fronted the railroad with his food and hardware place that also included liquor. Bennett and Company dealers in tin and hardware and stoves, advertised that "our stock comprises a full assortment of goods usually found in a first class store" on Second street.

Camp and Benson of 33 Front street boasted that they had the "best billiard tables, best wines, liquors and finest spring beds in town."

Then there was Andrew Kitchen who was Prop'r of the Occidental Hotel and Lodging House where "the table is furnished with the best the market affords."

Lewis Derr had the Virginia Boarding House and Saloon and E. H. Gaylord was an attorney at law who practiced in all the courts of Placer and Nevada and who had offices on Main street.

McLain's catered to carriage trade in the saloon and restaurant business.

Charles Bollding had a Mechanics Hotel with the best of wines, liquors and cigars, also a fine ten ball alley.

Jacob Teether was the constable who kept the peace and also general collector who "pays particular attention to all business entrusted in my care." He was associated with Justice of the peace Sykes.

C. W. Young was a dealer in watches, diamonds and jewelry.

This all according to the advertisements on the letter.

There may be some who doubt the running ability of C. Edmunds, manager of the Truckee Public Utility District, but witnesses who saw him in pursuit of a 14-yar-old Coloraoo boy who assertedly broke into the Associated Station at the Truckee-Tahoe Wye Sunday will offer a conclusive denial to those doubts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds were near the station Sunday when they heard the breaking of glass. Believing it may have been an auto accident at the wye, Edmunds hurried toward the station. He found one of the big windows broken and the young boy prowling around inside. After he got the boy out, Edmunds turned to lock the door and his prisoner took off across the field. Although he had a good start, the boy proved no match for the fleet-footed pursuer and after a few hundred yards, the capture was made.

Shortly afterward a second boy, a 15-year-old brother, was apprehended by the state highway patrol and both were turned over the juvenile authorities.

It was the second time in the past three weeks the station has been illegally entered, a radio having been stolen previously.

.: Sun :. Beams

by WALTER M. BARRETT

Last spring we optimistically predicted that in spite of the war, this district might still enjoy a good volume of business. Pessimists told us we were "all wet" and yet records prove that this summer's local trade exceeded that of last year. Now we are hearing the same old song from the same people, mainly that business this winter will be nil. They may be right. We would hate to deny them the apparent pleasure they get from dire predictions, but we are still of the opinion that in spite of obvious handicaps, no one can tell what the winter holds until it arrives and then it will be ample time to moan or to cheer. Usually business is just about what we make it, with all things being equal and if we all set our hand to the wheel there is no more reason why business should not be reasonably good. If we take a negative attitude, we may expect negative results.

Although the time is not yet right for an announcement, we talked with a local merchant the other day who is increasing the capacity of his store and adding a new line of merchandise. He is not afraid of the future for Truckee and we sincerely believe his faith is fully justified.

It is true many people are leaving the district for other and perhaps more lucrative fields. They are all people we know and we don't like to see them leave. At the same time, however, people are arriving. These newcomers we don't know and don't realize they are here for some time. We must admit a loss of population. That is to be expected under present conditions, but in comparison with thousands of other towns we are very well off and may count our temporary set-back a minor incident.

Whatever else we do, individually and collectively, is to keep boosting our own stock. We have probably the most beautiful country in the world, we are advantageously located and have many, many advantages which we should boost whenever and wherever the occasion permits.

Truckee Ration Board Increased To 7 Members

Board Will Meet Fridays To Take Action On Applications

At the suggestion of the Office of Price Administration, the Meadow Lake War Price and Rationing Board now comprises seven members in stead of three as originally created.

It was explained that the increase in the personnel of the board was proposed in light of the many new duties being added and for the purpose of equalizing the work among more members. Impending gasoline rationing and the subsequent details in that connection will throw even more work on the board members.

Originally the board was set up for the purpose of rationing tires. Then came automobiles, sugar, typewriters, bicycles, and then the board assumed the war price work, in itself no small task

The board's seven members now includes Yell Nobles, Frank Gaiennie and Walter M. Barrett who comprised the original group; E. L. Loynd, A. P. Fontana, V. C. Shattuck and C. Edmunds.

The board will meet each Friday afternoon at 4:30 to take up any business which may be necessary.

C. B. White, executive secretary of the local board maintains an office at Bank of America where applications may be procured and various questions answered.

The board has been requested to attend a meeting in Grass Valley at 7:30 tonight when state officials will discuss new duties and plans.

MY PLACE IN THE SUN

By PVT. DOUG BARRETT

I just received the September 24 issue of the Sierra Sun and note that Truckee is still giving to the services and to the war effort with all its vigor. Besides Bob Bowers and Roy Waters, I am proud to call such fine young men as Bill LaMarr, Bob Tonini, Lee Hunsinger and Paul Losey "Comrade" and "Buddy"..... And there's that perennial scrapper, Frank (Col.) Powell(who is really leading the fight on the home front. More power to Powell, says I.

One little incident occurred here the other day that should go down in army yarn annals. Furloughs in this day and time—when THE DAY is so close—are few and far between. So you can imagine the mixed feeling of elation and surprise that met the boys as they read on the bulletin board: "All men in school wishing to apply for furlough, sign the paper in room K-301." One of my school mates, unable to wait, dashed down the hall, around the corner and right smack into Room K-301 in three seconds flat—only to find himself smack in the middle of the latrine.

Just learned that I'm within 50 miles of Bloomington, Ill., where my great-grandfather founded the Bloomington Pantagraph during the Civil War. It was there that my grandmother was born. They tell me that Grandpa Moore printed in the days of the Civil War on the blank side of wall paper in the days of the paper shortage.

I hear that George "My Man" Keetch is doing alright for himself as a printer. Mark my words, George may not be Mercury, Junior, but that kid has something on the ball and will make a name for himself somewhere—sometime ..... Heard too, that his brother-in-law, Bob Morris, is slated to go into the merchant marine. There's another darned fine outfit and we certainly never needed it more than today. That is the life-line of victory that the rest of us are fighting to keep open and their's is a pretty hot spot, believe me.

Biggest news at Chanute Field this week is the promotion of the commander from Colonel to Brigadier General Raymond E. O'Niell. Gen'l O'Neill is no arm chair soldier. He was a year overseas in the World War with the 20th Machine Gun Bn., rising from second lieutenant to Captain. In 1920 he came over to the Air Corps—then the Air Services—and he was one of the pioneers in our fighting flight arm ..... Other news notes: We have here a son who outranks his father and a father who is outranked by his son. Pvt. Forrest Richter's son is a second lieutenant in Georgia while Staff Sgt. James C. Ridings, Jr., learned his father was undergoing training at Cheyene, Wyo. Confusing, isn't it?

Equipment Goes to Idaho As Navy Abandons Local Site

The last thin thread of hope for the erection of a United States Navy Base at Lake Tahoe apparently parted this week with the announcement from Washington that the site has been abandoned in favor of "a more convenient site," at Bend O'Reille Idaho.

The Associated Press dispatch had the following to report:

Washington, Oct., 10.— A navy spokesman said today Lake Tahoe had been abandoned as a naval training station in favor of a more convenient site t Bend O'Reille, Idaho.

The spokesman said the equipment hase been removed from Lake Tahoe to the Farragut Naval Training Station at Bend O'Reille.

Last spring the Tahoe base was assured, the contract for the huge base approved by all the necessary officials and work was ready to be started when, without any known cause, it was ordered cancelled.

Protests from property owners in the lake area may or may not have effected the sudden change in the construction plans. The explanation was made that "engineering difficulties" made the site impossible.

Then proponents, seeing Tahoe an ideal training station, requested a more elaborate review of the situation and proposed a base on a smaller scale which could overcome the "engineering difficulties." The matter of a smaller base was pending prior to the latest word from Washington, which evidently ends all controversy in the site.

Meat Rationing Will Not Effect Nation's Health, Say Authorities

Until the time nation-wide rationing takes place, federal officials are asking citizens to limit their weekly consumption of meats to 2½ pounds a week.

The foods requirements committee of the War Production board, which has charge of the pending meat rationing, stated that this 2½ pound limit should be figured by housewives for only those members of the family who actually eat meat.

For instance, if there are invalids, old people or young children in the household, the housewife should not assume that the weekly allowance total for the household may be 2½ pounds for each person. If a family of four includes two infants and two adults, the housewife should buy not 10 pounds of meat, but five.

Under normal conditions the present meat supply, 24½ billion pounds, would be sufficient for civilians. But with a continuous supply of meat going to the army, navy, and lend-lease nations, amounting to 6½ billion pounds, there will be less meat for home consumption. But the civilians' 17½ billion pounds will be sufficient for the maintenance of health, besides giving sufficient energy to carry on the all-out war activity.

Here is the way the food requirements committee arrived at the basis of 2½ pounds of meat per person per week:

During the coming year there will be available to civilians, 17½ billion pounds of dressed meat carcasses. There is a shrinkage of 10 per cent in converting dressed carcasses to retail cuts. So, the supply of retail cuts will total 15¾ billion pounds. Dividing that by 52 gives a total of 303 million pounds a week.

This 303 million pounds has to be shared among 128 million Americans not in the armed services. But babies and vegetarians eat no meat. Children, invalids, and old people eat less than adults and adolescents. So some 14 million half rations of meat and 114 million full rations, will total 121 million full rations.

The allowance for each adolescent and adult of normal meat eating habits is reached by dividing the 121 million full rations into 303 million pounds. This gives the figure of 2½ pounds per week per person.

This weekly amount is normal. The nation has in addition, abundant supplies of foods which are alternate sources of the nutritive values supplied by meat. Nutritionists in government, and private employ are beginning an education campaign which will inform homemakers on how to use alternate foods so as to get into family diets full amounts of the basic food values which meat supplies: protein, thiamin, niacin, and iron.

Families and individuals who have been accustomed to getting the above four food elements from a meat supply of more than 2½ pounds per person per week will be advised how they may get them from other sources such as eggs, milk, cheese, poultry, beans, many cereal foods, and vegetables and fruits.

AN 'E' FOR THE FARMER

Any charges that the farmers of the United States are not patriotic, based on the fracas in Congress over parity prices should be nipped in the bud right now.

For the American farmer is probably the most patriotic species of citizen we have in this country—and ever si ce the war started he has been putting in man-killing hours to bring food production to an all-time high.

In spite of labor shortages, resulting from selective service and from farm help going to the cities for easier and more lucrative work, the farmer has achieved a notable record this year—and he probably is much more deserving of wearing an Army-Navy "E" than are many of the war factory workers who drop their tools the minute the whistle blows unless they are assured of time and a half for overtime.

The farm lobbyists in Congress may have made it appear that the farmer is out for all he can get out of this war—but it should be remembered that it is the lobbyists and not the farmers themselves who are doing the shouting.

LOSING THE WAR

During recent weeks, more and more people in the know have expressed the opinion that "so far we are losing this war."

Those of us who do not have access to the facts, and hear only the news which official bodies agree to release, don't have much way of knowing whether things are looking brighter or darker.

It is alarming, however, to have such a prominent official as Ralph Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, publicly state that we are losing. Mr. Bard made that statement because he thinks the people will have to do a lot more than they have done so far in order to assure victory. He thinks a lot of us are "whistling in the graveyard to keep from facing reality."

Maybe we are—or maybe, if we are not facing reality, it is because reality is kept hidden from us. So long as the American people are given the facts they can be counted upon to do something about them.

TOO MANY USING BUSES ON HOLIDAYS AND ON WEE-ENDS

Over 50 per cent more people are riding by bus today than ever before, according to F. W. Akerman, vice president of Pacific Greyhound Lines. While a majority of the new bus passengers are men in uniform and war workers, Ackerman pointed out, present driving restrictions on private cars have also created thousands of new bus riders, and the rationing of gasoline will soon make even more people depenednt on public transportation.

Service men use the buses in much greater numbers on Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. There is no slackening in transportation to the war plants, most of which never close, and weekends and holidays are also the favorite travel days for the general public. As a result buses are completely swamped on these days.

The Office of Defense Transportation is now requesting that the general public voluntarily reduce their wekend and holiday use of public carriers, that only trips that are absolutely necessary be made, and that such traveling be done on Tuesday, Wednesdays or Thursdays.

Ackerman summed up the problems and policy of Grehound on war-time transportation in the following words:

"Never has public transportation faced such problems as it does today. Greyhound alone has carried over 75 million passengers since Pearl Harbor, nad handling this enormous volume of traffic has taxed every facility to the limit. It is difficult to get new buses, and we are losing hundreds of our trained personnel to the armed forces. Unnecessary service is being eliminated, and every effort is concentrated today on providing just one service—essential transportation for those who must travel to help win the war."

FIRE HAZARDS IN FOREST NOT OVER

Fire Chief Marc Edwards of the Tahoe National Forrest states that a light precipitation at this time will not end the fire season. Precipitation of any amount has not fallen since late in May and the accumulated dryness will take considerable rain before danger of fire is past.

Edmonds further states that many people will wanf to burn rubbish at this time and warns that burning permits as required by state law will be necessary until December 1.

California has been discovered for the second time—first by the Spaniards and once by the motorists driving at the new limit of 35 miles per hour for the first time.

TAHOE PLUMBER HURT IN CRASH ON RENO ROAD

TAHOE CITY, Oct. 15.— Fenton Ball Tahoe plumber, returned to his home in town Monday following a four and a half day stay at the Washoe General Hospital in Reno.

Last Wednesday while driving his car between Verdi and Lawtons he was suddenly confronted with a car on the wronng side of the highway operated by an inexperienced woman. His only alternatve to hitting the oncoming car was to swerve off the highway and take a chance on getting out of the wreck the best way possible. This he did, with the resultant skidding ploughing up the dirt for some distance with the side of his machine. He turned off the ignition switch to prevent a fire, but suffered bad head injuries which proved painful but not serious. The woman hailed a passing car that took Ball to the hospital. Although the car can be repaired none of the five tires were damaged.

HUNTERS HAVE ONLY FAIR LUCK IN TAHOE AREA

TAHOE CITY, Oct. 15.— Hunters have been returning to Tahoe the past week or two with few if any deer.

Constable Harry Johanson and his wife who spent a week in the Diamond Crossing region reported seeing 50 or more fawns and does but no bucks. During their stay they encountered Tom Walker and party, all veretan hunters, but they had not fired a shot.

James Worden and a party of his friends who hunted in the Ward Creek region reported sighting one or two but failed to bring them down.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crandall who spent several days in the back country were reported to have shot a buck on their way out.

Kay and Jack Starratt are this week enjoying a vacation in the country behind Squaw Valley with Bud Jones and a party of huntners.

Stanley Martin brought down a big 170 pound buck Thursday in the Page Meadow region. It was his second of the season. He broke all his pervious hunting records by getting his limit. He has hunted nearly every year but never was lucky enoungh to get a buck.

YOUTH, in everything it does, goes for the people and things that are "right". That's why youth goes for ice-cold Coca-Cola. It is "right"... in quality ...in taste...and in refreshment. It's the drink that belongs to youth's ritual of refreshment.

And there's reason for this. Ice-cold Coca-Cola has what it takes...a clean, fresh taste...unmistakable refreshment. A special blend of flavor-essences merges all the wholesome ingredients of Coca-Cola into an original taste of its own. No one can duplicate it.

Just ask for Coca-Cola or, to use its friendly abbreviation, Coke, and you're in for something special in delicious refreshment.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing...the real thing..."coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

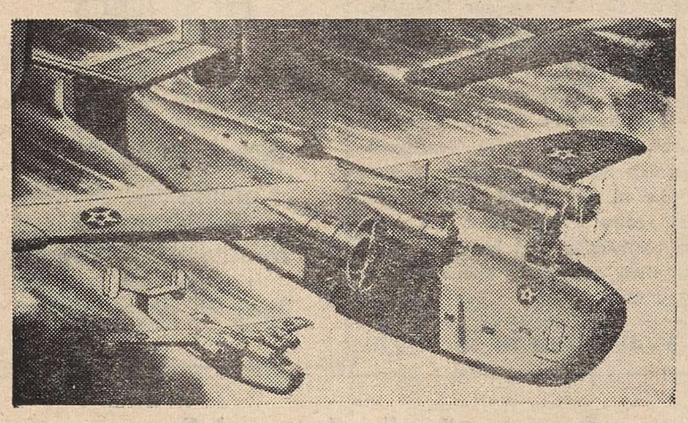

The custom in every neighborhood...to enjoy delicious ice-cold Coca-Cola...though not as often in wartime as before. And remember when you sometimes can't get Coca-Cola, it's because Coke, being first choice, sells out first.

It takes 12,000 telephone calls to build a bomber!

And it takes a lot of calls to build ships, tanks, guns...to move millions of men and the supplies they need.

With vital telephone materials drafted for the duration, additional lines cannot be built at this time. But war calls must go through. So will you, please:

Ask yourself, every time you are about to make a long distance call, is this call necessary?

And when you do call, please be brief.

Your assistance, and your understanding of the magnitude and importance of our task in keeping the telephone lines clear for war calls, are deeply appreciated. Your help makes it possible for us to be of maximum service to our Nation.

THE OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION states that week end travel must be reduced. Only so much transportation is available, and war service must come first. Transportation facilities are being stretched to the limit. New buses are difficult to obtain. Unnecessary bus service is being eliminated to meet the ever growing demands of the armed forces, war workers, and others who must travel to help win the war. Hundreds of our men, who used to serve you, are now in the military service (and we're proud of them) creating a serious shortage of trained personnel.

The time has come when every American must realize that pleasure travel is a peacetime luxury.

If You MUST Travel, Follow These Suggestions:

- ★ Ride on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays—leave week ends for men in uniform and war workers
- ★ Get tickets and information well in advance.
- ★ Take as little baggage as possible.

Mrs. Marie Henry announces this week that an advanced, or senior, course of first aid training will be given within the near future if enough persons are interested to form a class of eight or more. A total of five two hour lessons are necessary to complete the course which will probably be spread over a two weeks period if agreeable. Time and place of meeting will be arranged to suit the majority of the class. Call Tahoe City 70 at once if interested as it is desirable to finish before inclement weather, or gas rationing, will have set in for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Sisk entertained the A. M. Henrys Sunday night at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henry are overjoyed with an announcement from the home of their son, Al, Jr., in Sacramento that the stork has been ordered to deposit a little 'Patrick Henry' of their doorstep on or around Washington's Birthday. A regal welcome awaits the first arrival in the family.

Tahoe's level on Monday stood at 6227.66 with 176 CSF of water pouring from the dam gates. The temperature on Monday morning set a record for the present fall, reaching the new low of 27 degrees. Rain which fell Saturday and Sunday in the region brought .14 of an inch. The air has taken on a real breath of winter as large patches of snow blanket the tallest of the towering peaks, especially south of the lake. Within a week or so Autumn will have reached its most resplendent peak, bringing with it a panorama of beauty unsurpassed anywhere in America. It is our favorite season of the year.

James Worden, now engaged in defense work in the bay area, spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worden. He was accompanied by Bill Ramage of Richmond, Johnnie Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doherty of Oakland. The latter trio will enjoy another week at Tahoe before returning home.

Arnold Ludeman of Meeks Bay last week had an odd experience wwhile hunting. He shot a buck in the vicinity of Rubicon Peak and chased the animal which was wounded for several miles, trailing it to the vicinity of the Davis home at Rubicon Beach. There Phil Geier the caretaker, saw the animal take to the water and swim out from the shore. He secured a boata and followed the buck but before long the animal became exhausted and sank into the lake from sight.

Bobbie Scates and party reportedly brought in a four pointer tipping the scales at 182 pounds on Trursday from the region of Squaw Peak.

Mrs. Alice Bechtel in reported to have bought the house on Main and Grove streets from the Watson estate. Repairs are already being made to the property.

The Steve Craigs have received word from their son, Donald, that he is now stationed somewhere in the islands and is well.

A long and cheery letter was received this week from Van Nessa Prusso telling of the family moving from their large country home to another residence in town just two blocks from the store at Menands where her husband, E. E. Prusso, is manager. Theda (Prusso) Teagarden has named her wee daughter Sigana annd she is the adored glamour girl of the entire Prusso clan. All miss Tahoe terrifically and hope to again occupy their cottage by the lakeshore next summer.

Get your scrap in the fight

Here's another reason why we will keep 'em rolling!

On July 31, 5,137 Southern Pacific men were serving in our country's armed forces; on August 31, 5,836 men; and on September 15, 6,214. That's a lot of men from one organization!

To these men, the ideal of service is nothing new. Railroading has always inspired devotion to duty, and a conductor wears the stars on his sleeve just as proudly as a sailor wears his "hash marks."

We miss these men badly, for we worked side by side with them. We also miss their long training and experience in railroad work—training and experience that just can't be replaced overnight. But we're going to do our best to back these men up, wherever they may be.

We who are left have the job of getting troops, equipment and war materials over the line to the places where they're needed, when they're needed. And though the traffic peak in the next few months will be the greatest we have ever faced, we promise our men in the service that we will not let them down.

So if you see an extra glint of determination in an engineer's eye, or a passenger representative on the road night and day accompanying troop trains, or a section hand swinging his pick as if the ballast were full of Japs—you'll know why they have a personal interest in this war, and a personal determination to do their part to keep 'em rolling.

The War Bonds you buy now will help pay for one of those swell new post-war automobiles.

One $18.75 War Bond will buy four 37mm. shells.

ROUND up your scrap metal—it's needed to make steel. Steel for armor plate to protect him from bombs and bullets. Steel for weapons to help him do the job that must be done before he can come home again.

You don't want production figures. It's enough to know that 50% of all new steel is made of scrap—that our steel mills now have only enough scrap in sight to last another 30 days at the most!

What happens after that depends on all of us. If production falls and you've not done your part, will you rest easy?

Next week we're starting a collection drive—to build the biggest stockpile of scrap metal you've ever seen. Then when the mills need it, we'll have it—because you came through ... for his sake!

Capitol Week

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 15—The pinch of selective service is becoming more and more kenly felt throughout California.

The latest to feel the squeeze are a number of cities where induction of policemen, firemen and other civil service employes has left their essential services sharply curtailed.

An apeal from A. Beldon iGlbert, executive director of the Peace Officers Civil Service Associations, prompted oGvernor Culbert Olson to ask deferment of such persons.

"Citizens employed in public safety departments are doing a patriotic work in civilian life as important as though they were enlisted in the armed forces," the governor declared.

Olson said that selective service boards should take cognizance of a section of the selective service code whihc says policemen, firemen ana others engaged in safety work may be deferred in behalf of the war effort.

Meanwhile, Lieutenant Colonel Kenneth Leitch, state director of selective service, sai induction of married men without children will be necessary to fill heavy November draft quotas for California despite "pooling" of all registrants in the 1-A classification.

The available supply of single men probably will be exhausted by the end of this month and local draft boards will be forced to reclossify married men without dependents as 1-A, Leitch said.

The married group will be called in the sequence of both their registration periods and individual order numbers, the director said. Under this plan those who registered in October, 1940, would be inducted first, followed in order by the men listed at subsequent "R-day" signups.

Leitch said that all but three of the state's local boards have completed classification of all registrants and those will be completed by October 20.

Selective service headquarters also announced that children born of marriages contracted since Pearl Harbor are not to be considered by boards in determining eligibility of registrants for induction.

The effect of the War Production Board's order to close all gold mines was discussed in many capitol quarters with varying conclusions.

Bruce McDonnell, chief of the state bureau of War Minerals Production, asserted the order would effect "cataclsmic changes" in living conditions of residents of aClifornia' 13 Mother Lode mining counties.

State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, a mining operator and a member of the State Mining Board, declared the action "unjustified and tragic."

But an independent survey showed that only about 500 miners in the Nevada-Sierra county gold mining area would be affected by the closure order. Hundreds of men previously had gone into defense work or military service.

State Agriculture Director W. J. Cecil returned to the state from Washington, D. C., with dire news. He predicted drastic changes would have to be made soon in handling milk in California unless efderal agencies are able to solve manpower an price controversies.

Cecil sai he hoped the War Manpower Commission soon would "freeze" milkers in their jobs. Thousands more milk cows than normai are being slaughtered because owners cannot suffer continued losses, Cecil said.

The state is all set to aid victims in case of bombings. State Controller Harry B. Riley and Mis Martha Chickering, State Director of Social Welfare, have made arrangements to handle the state's share of feerai funds set aside for that purpose.

Under the plan, the state Social Welfare Department wil act as agent for the federal government and the controller's office wil be the disburing agency for actual claims.

The program provides for aid to civilian injured as a result of bombings or other military attack and to dependents of civilians killed or injured in such attacks.

Hunting Jap Snipers in Solomons

When this picture was taken, the position of the U. S. marines in the Solomon islands had become so strong that only "mopping up" operations were in progress, along with further strengthening operations of vantage points in the six islands which had already been wrested from the Japs by the U. S. fighting forces. Here you see the marines under the palm trees with guns ready as they look for hidden Japs in these tropical islands.

WARREN WARNS AGAINST LOSS OF PRIVATE INDUSTRY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15—A plea to Americans to guard against governmental encroachment upon private enterprise was voiced by Earl Warren in one of his most important campaign talks, given here before 500 San Francisco insurance men.

Warren emphasized that our foremost thought must be devoted to winning the war.

"But it is none to early to plan on the kind of an America to which our armed ofrces will return," he added. "It would be a costly victory if we win the war and lose the irghts upon which this nation was founded.

"The American way of life means the way of free enterprise. That is why we have enjoyed the world's highest standrd of living. It is the threat of locing this heritage at the war's end that deeply concerns me.

"When our men return to peaceful pursuits I want to see them able to return to service in private enterprise as well as governmental employment. I want to see small business in existence and I want to see large business and institutions kept intact.

"A country or state wherein the only employment is in governmental service soon will become a bureaucracy. Business will survive this war if it proves the need for its survival and makes public service and the public interest its goal. I hope that cooperation of government an business will not be carrie to the extent that goevrnment will swallow business.

"The thing our people fear is another paralyzing depression after the war, that our economic structure may collapse and our people be forced into some system of dole such as was administered by the infamous SRA under the present administration in Sacramento. The stench of that experience is not yet cleared from the nostrils of the the public."

"There are two philosophies for post-war reconstruction. One would throw the entire burden on government. That can mean but one thing —the socialization of industry. The other calls for continuance of a peace economy in which free enterpirse is given full encouragement. That means prosperity, contentment.

"If we are forced into dependence on government for our jobs, our business and financing of our business, that means the end of free enterprise in America.

'I do not criticize some infringement on our liberties in this crisis. That is necessary. But we must never be complacent about their instant return after the war. I pledge, if elected governor of California, to do all within my power to work with all men of good will, regardless of party affiliation, toward every plan for the furtherance of vigorous private enterprise in the period of reconstruction."

The meting was under the sponsorship of the Blue Goose International, a society of fire and automobile insurance men. Warren was given a tremendous ovation and was told by the chairman that "the insurance men of San Franicsco are solidly behind you."

Highway Accidents Are Likely To Increase For Winter, Report Indicates

Although highway traffic accidents are substantially below the record of the same time last year, the department of motor vehicles today predicted an increase for the next 10 weeks and warned motorists of the approach of the year's most hazardous driving season.

Director James M. Carter poihted out that October, November and December are always "black" months in traffic records because of shorter hours of daylight driving, fog, rain and slippery pavements.

Hazars to pedestrians, Carter said, are also greater because of shorter hours of daylight, use of pavements by school children and street congestion incident to the holiday shopping season. To reduce danger of being hit, Carter urged pedestrians to wear some article of white clothing when walking at night.

The Terrors of Inflation

A newspaper reaching the top of the Rocky mountains, where this writer is now perched, says that the President intends to take definite action to stop inflation before it gets out of control. If this is so—and if he is successful—we will win the war; if he is unsuccessful, we may lose it.

Inflation is not just a name; nor is it just a "headache for the government and the banks." Inflation is Hell—for you and for me and for everyone we know. It is Hell for the rich man; it is worse than that for the poor man. The rich man's money, and his investments, and all the rest of his wealth disappears; but he still has a few assets of some sort to keep him from starving, and he usually has a business of some kind which he can start up again when the catastrophe is over. The poor man has a small farm, or a filling station, or a little shop, or at least a job and three square meals a day. Suddenly prices begin to rise sharply, and the dollar buys only fifty cents worth of goods. Next month it buys only twenty-five cents worth, then ten cents worth, then one cent's worth. Then almost overnight it takes ten dollars to buy a cigar; twenty to buy ham and eggs. From then on—leaping higher and higher almost by the hour—prices soar until it could—as it did in Germany after the last war—take the equivalent of a million dollars to buy a meal.

The man with a job is the first to suffer because his employer can't pay him or even feed him any longer and he has nothing to fall back on—no farm, no shop, no business, nothing—only the memory of wages, or salary, which once brought health and happiness to his wife and children, but which wouldn't buy the small end of a toothpick in the inflation storm. The shopkeeper "folds up" because no one has the money to pay him so that he can buy his supplies. The filling station shuts down, and the farmer sells or mortgages his farm for anything he can get in order to buy a little feed to keep his horses alive and to get some canned goods for his frightened family.

The whole financial system begins to collapse and the people get panicky as the realization comes to them that they may be facing hunger. The government tries to "take over," and military rule is established. But if the avalanche is beyond control, no power on earth can withstand it until it runs its course. New governments succeed each other in a hopeless attempt to bring some order out of the chaos. If the nation which is caught in a tornado of uncontrolled inflation happens to be at war, the war is forgotten—there are no means of continuing it. If its enemies are "on the job" they can take over the "sinking ship" and meet with little resistance. The terrified inhabitants will welcome almost "any port in a storm."

These awful sounding nightmares are not only possible—they are almost inevitable if a nation ever falls victim to complete, uncontrolled inflation. They have happened before, and they will probably happen again in this world of ours.

So no matter how the President's actions should affect us individually, or as a group, we must still "get our shoulders to the wheel" and push as we have never pushed before: because we have reached the danger zone and if we collapse we are all in it together—rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief; farmer, laborer and politician.

DEER DATA GIVEN BY FORESTER IN ROTARY MEETING

Ranger Paul Case of the Tahoe National Forest told members of the Nevada City Rotary club last week that there are approximately 22,000 deer in the forest. He was speaker at a luncheon meeting and declared that deer are considered a product in very much the same sense as timber, although taking inventory of the mobile "product" is much more difficult.

Since 1935 the forest service has compiled much data on the size, type and habits of the deer and the information gives an accurate picture of where the majority of deer are killed by hunters, the relation of bucks to does and the percentage of hunters compared with deer killed.

In 1941 some 14,000 hunters entered and killed slightly more than 2,000 deer—an average kill of about 15 per cent.

ENJOYS SIERRA SUN

Berkeley, Oct. 12, 1942

Dear Mr. Barrett:

I am pleased to enclose my check for $2.50 paying enclosed bill.

I want to congratulate you on the very much improved character of your paper. Your local news is now fine and that is about all one who has left a community is interested in.

There are a lot of new names since I left, but still there are quite a lot of the old timers and I enjoy reading about them.

Wishing you continued success, I am,

Very truly,
G. D. Oliver

Tahoe Schools

The Agricultural Marketing Administration is offering throughout the nation a penny milk program whereby each child in the class will pay for one-half pint of milk daily at the rate of only one cent. Mrs. Bliss Hinkle and Mrs. Myrtle Gallinger approved the plan for the Tahoe Lake School and the program has been adopted locally. The milk service will begin within the next week or two with local parents giving it their hearty approval.

Ellsworth Martinelli, in charge of visual instruction in the office of the county superintendent of schools last week brought to Tahoe for local showing pictures entitled Communication, New Horizon and Animals in Modern Life.

The pupils of Mrs. Gallinger's room this week enjoyed a rare treat when they were given two large fresh cocoanuts by Arthur Ables who left recently to reside in Oakland. The cocoanuts were evidently brought from the islands by Ables who visited at Tahoe before leaving for the bay region. The children drank the milk and then devoured the meaty interior, it being the first time that many had enjoyed the fruit in its native form.

Local school children of all classes are contributing invaluable aid to the scrap iron campaign being waged in the region. During the past week they assisted in gathering three tons which was contributed to the local scrap pile. Norman Mayfield still needs trucks with drivers to take the scrap to the depot where it is estimated a carload can easily be raised.

The lockers in the schoolhouse are being given over to Mrs. A. M. Henry and her first aid equipment which now consists of a well balanced quantity of most needed articles for use in an emergency disaster.

VETERANS URGE ACTIVE WAR LEADERSHIP

Former Servicemen Supporting World War Buddy In His Race For Governorship

Earl Warren Served With the 91st Division; His Defense Record Is Praised

Veterans of World War —thousands of them—under the statewide leadership of Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., former national commander of the American Legion, today are campaigning for their 91st Diviison buddy, Attorney General Earl Warren, in his fight to win the Governorship of California.

In their campaign for new leadership in State administration, they point to Warren's activities in connection with Civilian Defense, and they openly charge Governor Culbert L. Olson with a record of appalling neglect of war preparedness and bugling of the State's defense program in "his game of playing 'politics as usual' for personal gain."

Veterans are still incensed at Olson's unwarranted attempt to belittle their efforts against subversive and un-Americanism. They do not forget his veto of bills requiring school children to pledge allegiance to the flag; his veto of a bill permitting high school boards to purchase cadet uniforms; or that, in the State Senate he cast the only vote, on May 25, 1937, against a California National Guard appropriation. His record of defense neglect is long.

Warren on the other hand as early as January, 1941—long before Pearl Harbor—analyzed the war situation, mustering peace officers of the state, and sponsored practical defense measures. He is a forceful and courageous leader, veterans declare.

Families of men now in the service are numbered among Warren's staunchest supporters, because he also assures intelligent after-the-war leadership.
